

APRU World Institute Workshop
"The Role of Universities in Addressing Emerging Public Health Threats
in the Asia Pacific Region."

May 24-26, 2007
School of Public Health, Peking University

PROFILE

---

Robyn NORTON

Principal Director

The George Institute for International Health
Professor of Public Health, School of Public Health and Associate Dean (International), Faculties of Health
University of Sydney

Robyn Norton is Principal Director of The George Institute for International Health, Professor of Public Health within the School of Public Health and Associate Dean (International) within the Faculties of Health at the University of Sydney, Australia. In addition, she holds the positions of Honorary Professor at Peking University Health Science Center in Beijing, China and Honorary Consultant Epidemiologist at the Royal Prince Alfred Hospital in Sydney, Australia.

Professor Norton is Chair of the Road Traffic Injuries Research Network – a global partnership for the promotion, conduct and utilization of research for the prevention and control of road traffic injuries in low and middle-income countries. She is also Acting Chair of the Australian Coalition for Global Health Research. In addition, she regularly consults with the World Health Organization's Department of Violence and Injury Prevention and is a Board member of the journal Injury Prevention.

Professor Norton is widely published in the area of road safety, unintentional injuries and critical care. She was co-author of the WHO's 5-year strategy for road traffic injury prevention, the lead author on the "epidemiology of road traffic injuries" chapter for the WHO's World Report on Road Traffic Injury Prevention and the lead author on the "unintentional injuries in the developing world" chapter for the Disease Control Priorities in Developing Countries Report.